ABOUT THIS COFFEE

At Finca Misiones, Sudan Rume represents a continued pursuit of excellence through rare and distinctive coffee varieties. Introduced to the farm's varietal collection in 2017, this cultivar has proven exceptionally well suited to the environmental conditions of the estate, consistently revealing both agronomic strength and remarkable cup potential.

Cultivated at 1,800 meters above sea level in El Colegio, Cundinamarca, the cherries are selectively handpicked and meticulously sorted to ensure only perfectly ripe fruit enters production. The coffee undergoes a natural process supported by 84 hours of anaerobic fermentation under controlled temperatures between 15 and 16°C, followed by a carefully monitored drying stage on African beds and silos. This combination allows the variety's character to develop with clarity, depth and elegance.

Behind every lot is a team driven by a strong sense of ownership, continuous learning and a commitment to quality.
