TIERRA LINDA

Colombia • Quindio • Salento

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

The farm is located on a high ground, forming a sort of plateau, approximately 1,000 meters in straight-line distance and at an altitude of around 1600 meters above sea level (msnm). The Quindío River passes by about 2000 meters downhill from the mountain, and the Navarco River surrounds the farm, along with a small stream (creek). The farm is nestled among mountains. All these water sources, cold air currents descending from the mountains, and the environmental conditions create an ecotope that significantly favors our crops. This environment generates special microclimatic conditions. Additionally, the farm has biological corridors that help preserve the local fauna and flora.
