

SANTA ELENA

Salvador • Apaneca Ilamatepec • Ilamatepec

PACAMARA

HONEY

SANTA ELENA

In El Salvador, producer Fernando Lima owns a number of farms, including Santa Elena, where this batch of Pacamara comes from.

Located between Los Andes and Los Volcanes national parks, the farm is ideally situated to produce excellent quality coffee, at an altitude of 1850 metres. The soil here is volcanic, rich in nutrients and even more so since the Ilimatepec volcano erupted, dumping its ashes on the farm's soil.

Fernando has equipped himself with his own wetmill to supervise every stage of production, right up to the washing. This is carried out after 5 sorting passes, to ensure that only the best cherries are produced.

SCAN THE QR CODE FOR MORE INFO ON BELCO.FR

Producer	Fernando Lima
Species	Arabica
Process	Honey
Drying	Drying beds
Altitude	1850
Harvest	January - April
Type of harvest	Manual