

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

A dream come true

The story of the farm begins with Felipe's grandfather, Gildardo Contreras. Gildardo hoped to own his own coffee farm one day, and in 2012 his dream came true. Gildardo had the opportunity to purchase 40 hectares of land near Antigua in 2012 and quickly realised that the land was ideal for growing coffee. He started by planting the Bourbon 300 variety in 2014 and then expanded his production to the Geisha variety in 2016 by installing a drip irrigation system. This was a real success, with the first Geisha coffee scoring 88.5 points!

Sustainability at the heart of the farm

By 2019, his son Felipe aims to be fully sustainable. He has started to implement new production standards, always keeping an eye on the market and trends in the speciality coffee scene. Felipe has developed a production system based on a symbiotic relationship between the ecosystem and the coffee plant to produce cups with a complex profile.
