

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

A second-generation producer, Olman Valladarez is today a recognized figure in the specialty coffee scene in Nicaragua. After taking over the family farm, he structured his project around a progressive improvement in quality and an increased control over the value chain, from production to post-harvest processing.

Located in Dipilto, in the Nueva Segovia region, Finca Buenos Aires lies at the heart of his project. The construction of the Cafetalera Buenos Aires washing and drying station marked a major turning point, allowing Olman Valladarez to process and export his coffees directly, while ensuring precise process management and strong quality consistency. His work is regularly recognized at the highest level. Olman Valladarez has participated more than 40 times in the Cup of Excellence, earning five first-place awards, and has also stood out in the Nicaraguan competition “The Best of Maragos”, dedicated to varieties such as Maragogype, Maracaturra and Pacamara.

Farm	Buenos Aires
Species	Arabica
Process	Natural

