Transition to organic farming

Don Jesus Maria Pedraza is the spokesperson for an association of 20 producers who share a common vision of agriculture. Self-sufficient at 85%, Don Jesus is transitioning his farm to an organic and shady plantation. In order to work in harmony with his environment, he prefers to reduce the number of coffee trees in order to produce less but better.

Remuneration above market prices

One of the very important objectives of this project is to pay the producers above the market price.
