

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

This coffee is produced at the Pampojila farm, a plantation located in the region of Solola in the municipality of Santa Barbara. Located not far from the Atitlan volcano, the farm benefits from a rich volcanic soil, which is a considerable asset for cultivating coffee trees. All are grown according to responsible, sustainable and socially viable production practices.

This coffee offers a vivacity reminiscent of Huehuetenango coffees.

Farm	Pampojila
Producer	Alex Herrera
Species	Arabica
Varieties	Caturra rouge
Process	Washed
Drying	Patios
Altitude	1400 - 1700
Harvest	November - February
Type of harvest	Manual

