YELLOW CATUAI

LOS MANANTIALES

Los Manantiales coffee is a yellow Catuai from the mountains of Jutiapa, in the New Oriente region, southeast Guatemala. The plots that are the origin of this lot are located between 1,730 and 2,000 meters above sea level, within a mountainous and forested environment.

This coffee comes from the farm Los Manantiales, founded in 1997 and now managed by Ronald Pivaral. The estate is located in the Valencia / Los Manantiales massif and is characterized by dense natural shade, provided notably by pines, cypresses, cedars, avocado trees, and walnut trees, which support the development of the coffee trees and structure the local ecosystem.
