

ABOUT THIS COFFEE

CAFESMO (Cafés Especiales Mercedes Ocotepeque) was born from several years of informal collaboration among producers in the Mercedes region, Ocotepeque — an area nestled between Cerro Pital, the Guisayote National Reserve, and the Pacayita volcano, at altitudes ranging from 950 to 2,000 meters above sea level. Officially established in 2016, the cooperative exported its first container of microlots to the United Kingdom in 2019 and has been growing steadily ever since.

What makes CAFESMO unique is the deliberate way it defends its identity. The Lenca–Ocotepeque designation is not a generic regional name — it carries a dual identity: the Lenca indigenous people and the department of Ocotepeque. This cultural root is reflected in every lot they produce.

Beyond identity, CAFESMO is truly innovative: in addition to washed, honey, and natural coffees, they have developed carbonic maceration with remarkable results and continue to expand this line.
