HEIRLOOM

KENYAN WASHED

MASSAI

This selection is sourced from small farms located in the middle of the country, south of Mount Kenya, on the high plateaus of the Kiambu appellation. It is produced in the following counties: Nyeri, Kirinyaga and Kiambu.

Kenyan producers are generally smallholders. 2/3 own 300 trees on average and produce between 1,000 and 1,500 kg of cherries a year, while the remaining 1/3 owns estates, grouped into cooperatives.

Producers send their freshly harvested cherries to cooperatives, which then prepare the coffee. The process for this coffee, known as Kenyan washing or double washing, is considered a national expertise.
